Moeller Precision Tool Covid-19 UPDATE

March 31, 2020

Dear Valued Moeller Customer,

Moeller Precision Tool remains open. Under Michigan's Executive Order 2020-21 (COVID-19), we are designated an "essential" supplier to our Critical Infrastructure customers supporting community and national wellbeing. <https://www.cisa.gov/critical-infrastructure-sectors>

Additionally, Moeller is proud to be providing solutions and innovations to help our hard-working healthcare providers as they care for those affected by this virus. One of the first calls Ford Motor made when deciding to dedicate their tooling division to supporting current, and new, dies for ventilators was to Moeller Precision Tool. Critical tools for making components were hand delivered that afternoon. We continue to work with Ford and others on this project. As well as new projects for face shields and other innovative solutions.

Moeller's 100% North American manufacturing base and supply lines from steel, to heat treat, to $10M plus of stocked blanks in inventory, to precision finished product, means you can continue to count on us for your ongoing and urgent needs.

Our several state-of-the-art manufacturing facilities, located in Michigan, Tennessee, Ontario Canada, and Queretaro Mexico operate with constant communication and coordination. We are unique in our industry in that no other supplier has as many locations with identical manufacturing processes and capabilities. This ensures that we can continue to supply critical components. Even in the face of these unprecedented times.

You can be assured that the safety and security of our employees and their families are our top priority. We have responded from the very start to follow and exceed all governmental guidelines. We have taken extraordinary steps to maintain and sanitize our facilities. We have altered shifts and start times and lunch breaks to facilitate proper distancing. We are also screening employees daily for symptoms and/or fever prior to entering the facility. All These precautions are being taken to keep our employees healthy. And to be able to continue to provide unparalleled products, services and solutions to you, our loyal customers.

Moeller, and you, our customers, are tough and resilient people. We will not be defeated by this global pandemic. And will be ready to get back to business when this too finally passes.

Stay Healthy and Sanitized!
